

Abstract of the Disclosure

This disclosure relates to an oxygen mask having an improved means for quickly, safely and securely attaching the mask to the face of a patient. The improved means features a pair of adjustable elastic bands, each band affixed to one side of the mask, forming loops for extending from the sides of the mask and looping over each ear of the patient to form a snug fit over the patient's nose and mouth.